

Parents as Teachers provide parents with:

- timely information on child development, prenatal through 3
- parent involvement in parent-child activities that encourage language development and intellectual growth
- social development and motor skills
- strengthens parent-child relationships

Parents are supported by certified parent educators who use the Parents as Teachers Born to Learn Curriculum to translate scientific information on early brain development into concrete suggestions for parents to use to teach and nurture their children.

How the Program Works!

When a program is implemented in a community, everyone benefits. Whether it is children who achieve greater personal and academic success, parents who increase confidence on their parenting role, or the school district which develops good relationships with parents from the beginning and enrolls children better prepared.

Parents as Teachers is a free service offered through all Missouri public school districts. Each district offers their own free services. If you are not in the Cape School District, contact your local school district for a P.A.T. Program near you.
